

"The Memories Of A Soldier"

My darling wife, where ever you are,
The sun is always shining.
A thousand miles away I am,
My heart is always pining.

It is pining for the one I miss,
The one I love so dear.
Gee I'd be the happiest man,
If you were always near.

Some where in this USA,
My wife she sits alone.
I know that she is waiting,
For her husband to come back home.

Now keep on waiting sweetheart,
There is nothing else to do,
For some day your husband.
Is coming back to you.

If you could travel with me dear,
My life would be content.
Then I could have you with me,
Where ever I was sent.

My darling wife, when ever you write,
It makes me feel so glad.
But when you wait so long to write,
It makes me feel so sad.

Some where the sky is cloudy,
Some where the sky is blue.
Some where your husband's heart,
Is yearning just for you.

It takes two to make life happy,
Now one can make it blue.
My darling wife, I'd give any thing,
Just to be back home with you.